

2025-2026 Direct PLUS Information Sheet

What is a Direct Parent PLUS loan?

Direct PLUS loans are offered to eligible parents (as defined by Federal Student Aid for purposes of Title IV) of dependent undergraduate students to assist with educational costs. These loans are based on the applicant's credit history and are subject to approval by the Department of Education (ED). These loans feature a fixed interest rate.

Is this the only type of loan that is available to dependent students?

No, students can receive Direct Loan funds by completing a FAFSA. Students who apply for Federal Financial Aid will be assessed for eligibility of both grant and loan funding.

When does repayment start?

The first payment of a Direct Parent PLUS Loan is due within 60 days of the first disbursement, unless the parent takes action to apply for, and is granted, a deferment. For additional information, visit: <https://studentaid.gov/plus-app/>

How do I apply for a Direct Parent PLUS loan?

1. Go to www.studentaid.gov
2. Log in with your FSA ID, and apply for the PLUS Loan
3. Complete the PLUS Loan MPN
4. Submit this signed and completed Direct Parent PLUS Loan Request Form
5. The PCC Office of Financial Aid will process the request.

Are there borrowing limits to this type of loan?

Yes, the student's combined awards cannot exceed their Cost of Attendance (COA). Each student is assigned a COA by the college based on many factors such as residency status, cost of tuition, books, scholastic expenses, and the student's credit hour enrollment for that semester. Consult your MyPima account at mypima.pima.edu or an appropriate Student Service Center advisor if you would like to view your personal COA.

What happens if I am denied a Direct Parent PLUS loan?

There are two options if you are denied. First, you may seek an endorser that can co-sign the loan, which will be completed through studentloans.gov. If you are approved with the endorser, please email LoanHelp@Pima.edu to have your request processed. No additional paperwork will be necessary. Second, your child may request additional Federal Direct Unsubsidized loan funds if you do not wish to seek an endorser. You may only use one of these options.

Always borrow wisely!
